Job Overview

A specialist rehabilitation, recovery, and accommodation services business in the South West. We specialise in providing community-based solutions to people with diagnosed mental health conditions or complex, unmet needs. We pride ourselves in offering bespoke and individual support and accommodation packages.

We believe that everyone is supportable with the right approach and should be able to live in a safe, caring, and empowering environment. We believe that individuals are more than labels, diagnoses or their past. We enjoy serving and offering value to our community.

As an employer we value honesty, passion, creativity, individuality, ownership, and courage from our employee's so we can come together as a team to give the best opportunities and support to our clients.

The Park is a recently converted 12-bed step through rehabilitative facility set in the beautiful grounds of South Gloucestershire. We house adult males aged 18-65 with a mental health illness, the service's core philosophy is the promotion of independence, health and social recovery through bespoke rehabilitation and care/support planning for these adults.

As The Park's Forensic Psychologist, you will be expected to provide support, guidance and leadership to an innovative and compassionate therapeutic team. You will be expected to work in partnership with The Park's Registered Manager and therapeutic team to deliver a recovery focused clinical and therapeutic offering to male adults (aged 18-65) experiencing complex mental health difficulties using a wide range of bespoke care planning and risk management strategies.
